

Colour the Syrian Archer's tombstone

Using modern technology, archaeologists have reimagined what sculptures looked like in Roman times.

Have a go at colouring the Syrian Archer's tombstone how you think it would have looked like when it was first created!

The Romans mainly used these colours:

What it used to look like

What it looks like now

Next time you're in the museum, try to look for the Syrian Archer's tombstone in the Hadrian's Wall gallery!

If you enjoyed this resource, you can find more on our website:

<https://greatnorthmuseum.org.uk/learning/museum-activities-from-home-or-school>

